Fifth Sunday of Lent

March 13, 2016

Isaiah 43:16-21; Psalm 126;
Philippians 3:8-14; John 8:1-11

STRAIGHT LINES

“God writes straight with crooked lines,” the saying goes. The power of Paul’s testimony that everything is junk but knowledge of Jesus and the power of his resurrection is a straight enough message. And, God knows, Paul had a crooked journey before his blinding insight straight from God.

Through Isaiah, God reminds us all that the past great works were as nothing compared to the new creation. “Can’t you see it?” we are asked, as if we are still wandering along our crooked lines.

And there is no straighter line than that between the woman whose misery is intense and the God whose mercy in Jesus is deeper and more acute. You just can’t beat this kind of good news. Copyright © J. S. Paluch Co.

I consider everything as a loss because of the supreme good of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. — Philippians 3:8

Questions of the Week:

Once again the scribes and Pharisees are trying to trap Jesus. He then challenges them by saying: "Let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her." One by one the judges and critics drop their stones and drift away. Now that they recognize their own need for forgiveness, they are not ready to condemn someone else. Neither does Jesus condemn the woman. He simply requires her to turn away from sin. Now she has a chance for a new beginning.

Write down the words of Jesus on an index card: "Let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone." Put it in a place where it can be easily seen. Then pay attention to the radio, the television, the newspaper, and your own conversations. Try to remember these words of Jesus whenever someone's mistakes, sins, or crimes are broadcast, or whenever you are tempted to "throw a stone" of malicious gossip or scandal about someone!
